1. INTRODUCTION

1.1. Purpose

- 1.1.1. This Code of Conduct and Ethics (the "Code") has been adopted by International SOS ("Intl.SOS") to provide guidance to all employees in their conduct towards other stakeholders, customers, service providers, partners, government authorities and the general public.
- 1.1.2. This Code applies to officers and employees of Intl.SOS and all directors appointed by Intl.SOS, throughout the world.
- 1.1.3. As our future depends on our reputation, this Code goes beyond the requirements of the law.
- 1.1.4. As an employee, you are expected to act with the highest levels of honesty, integrity, ethics and fair dealing and to uphold our core values:
 - (a) Passion: We work with passion, entrepreneurial spirit and teamwork to serve our clients and people.
 - (b) Expertise: We are committed to apply our professional expertise to deliver great quality services to our clients.
 - (c) Respect: We treat all our stakeholders with respect and integrity in order to earn their trust.
 - (d) Care: We care about the interests of our clients, members and employees and aim to make a real difference to their lives.

1.2. Purpose of the Code

- 1.2.1. The purpose of this Code is to set standards to promote:
 - (a) honest and ethical conduct, including fair dealing and the ethical handling of conflicts of interest;
 - (b) compliance with applicable laws and regulations;
 - (c) the protection of our legitimate business interests, including corporate opportunities, assets and confidential information;
 - (d) full, fair, accurate and timely disclosures between officers, employees and directors within Intl.SOS;
 - (e) internal reporting of any violations of this Code and deter wrongdoing; and
 - (f) accountability for adherence to this Code.

1.3. Compliance with Laws and Professionalism

- 1.3.1. This Code should be read in the context of applicable laws and in conjunction with our other policies, manuals and guidelines. Intl.SOS expects you to become familiar with and fully comply with this Code.
- 1.3.2. You are expected to comply with applicable laws, rules, codes and regulations.

- 1.3.3. This Code provides a broad guideline. New ethical and legal considerations arise from time to time and the social, commercial and legal environments change rapidly. You may therefore have questions from time to time on how the Code will apply. You are encouraged to seek guidance from your supervisor or the Group General Counsel.
- 1.3.4. Both maintaining your safety and Intl.SOS's good standing within the communities in which we operate is fundamental to our role as an international healthcare provider and assistance company. Conduct that compromises your safety and Intl.SOS's reputation or jeopardises the position of trust that Intl.SOS holds in a community will lead to disciplinary action. You are expected to act with professionalism, dignity and proper deportment, respecting social mores and avoiding inappropriate behaviour, both at work and during non working hours. In this regard, you are expected to take particular care in countries that are not your home country.

1.4. Reporting of Breaches

- 1.4.1. International SOS encourages employees to report any breach of our Code of Conduct and Ethics, professional standards or law (wrong-doing) in good faith and in an environment free from victimisation so that senior management can adequately identify issues and manage risk within the group.
- 1.4.2. You do not need to be certain that a violation has occurred. At the same time, you have an obligation to promptly raise a concern when you see a situation in which our integrity, principles or policies are not being followed.
- 1.4.3. Confidentiality is respected, and you may even choose to remain anonymous. However, if you identify yourself, we are able to follow up with you and provide feedback. Your identity and information will only be shared on a "need-to-know" basis. Any retaliation, whether direct or indirect, against employees who raise a concern is grounds for discipline up to and including dismissal.

How to report a breach

- 1.4.4. Intl.SOS offers four (4) reporting channels for reporting suspected wrongdoing:
 - (a) You can choose to speak to someone about a suspected wrongdoing or put it in writing. Generally, your supervisor or manager will be in the best position to resolve a suspected wrongdoing, but other resources include your human resources leader or the Group Manager Compliance at Compliance@internationalsos.com.
 - (b) You can report suspected wrongdoing via Hydra, the application used for customer feedback, incident reporting and management, risk management and quality management within International SOS. Hydra – Incidents supports adverse incident reporting and incorporates automatic escalation to line management and functional management.

- (c) You can report anonymously using the “Integrity Reports” application for non-Government Services related matters via the web at: <https://app.whispli.com/reports/add/IntegrityReports>.
- (d) For Government Services related suspected wrongdoings, you can report anonymously using the “EthicsPoint” application via the web at: <https://secure.ethicspoint.com/domain/media/en/gui/59418/index.html>.

How we handle reported wrongdoings

- 1.4.5. Reports of suspected wrongdoing raised through these channels must be escalated to the relevant country or functional general manager or divisional head.
- 1.4.6. All incidents are to be investigated in accordance with the Intl.SOS Investigation Procedures, which require a preliminary investigation (to ascertain whether there are sufficient grounds to launch an investigation), establishment and sign off of terms of reference, approval by the Group General Counsel and conduct of a formal investigation.
- 1.4.7. During the investigation process, Intl.SOS:
 - (a) Forms an objective investigation team;
 - (b) Determines the facts through interviews and/or the review of documents;
 - (c) Recommends corrective action, if necessary; and
 - (d) Provides the person who raised the original concern (if that person is known) with feedback on the outcome.

2. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

2.1. Conflicts of Interest

- 2.1.1. You are expected to maintain objectivity and to avoid conflicts between your personal interests and the interest of Intl.SOS.
- 2.1.2. A conflict is something that interferes with the independent exercise of sound judgment in the best interests of Intl.SOS when performing your duties and responsibilities.
- 2.1.3. Any material transaction or relationship that could reasonably be expected to give rise to a conflict or the appearance of such a conflict should be discussed with your supervisor or with the Group General Counsel.
- 2.1.4. Service to Intl.SOS and its customers should not be subordinated to personal gain and advantage.

2.2. Gifts, Entertainments, and Other Favours

- 2.2.1. You shall not request, accept or give personal gifts or hospitality in a way that creates a conflict of interest.
- 2.2.2. No gifts of cash may be given or received under any circumstances, regardless of the amount.
- 2.2.3. Non cash gifts which are to be given on behalf of the Company or which are received from non employees by you with an estimated value of more than US$ 200 (or equivalent) must be approved by the Group General Counsel. Company employees involved in specific customer contracts that require a stricter standard must also adhere to those strict rules.
- 2.2.4. The Group General Counsel will assess any such request for approval on the basis of the conflicts of interest principles set forth in Section 2.1 above.

2.3. Corporate Opportunities

- 2.3.1. Your duty of loyalty to Intl.SOS is violated if you personally profit from a business opportunity which rightfully belongs to Intl.SOS.
- 2.3.2. You are prohibited from competing with Intl.SOS or taking advantage of any opportunities that were created through the use of Intl.SOS's property or information or as a result of your position with Intl.SOS.

- 2.4.2. You are expected to deal fairly with our customers, partners, employees, service providers, suppliers, the general public and other third parties. You should not take unfair advantage of anyone through manipulation, concealment, abuse of confidential information or misrepresentation of material facts.

2.5. Protection and Proper Use of Group Assets

When in doubt, you should discuss with your supervisor or with the Group General Counsel.

3.6. Anti-Money Laundering Policies and Procedures

Intl.SOS is committed to prohibit and actively prevent money laundering and any activity that facilitates money laundering or the funding of terrorist or criminal activities, by complying with applicable regulations and laws in all jurisdictions in which it operates.
